What students have had to say about Junior Cert Business Studies

I chose Business Studies in 1st year and I haven't regretted it since. I enjoyed doing the subject because it was interesting to learn about something that does affect me and will affect me in the future such as the basics in running a business and how the country is run on a daily basis. Believe me you won't regret making your decision."

5th Year Student

It is an enjoyable subject that deals with current affairs. Business is one of the few subjects that will help you out later in life. Every topic you do in Business Studies has some reference to everyday life.

Course Information

Business of Living:

The Management of personal finance is an important life skill which students learn in Business Studies. Many of its skills may be taught through reference to familiar situations – personal or household. Topics covered are personal income & expenditure, consumer education, budgeting, financial services for the individual, borrowing & insurance.

Economic Awareness:

While studying this area students study economic decisions for individuals, business firms and government. It is difficult to make political choices without some knowledge of economics. Taking Business Studies will help enable students to make an informed contribution to the democratic process through the study of fiscal policy.

Enterprise:

In this section topics covered include forming a business, marketing, business overheads and related accounting including final accounts and balance sheet. The accounting element involves the assembly, recording, processing, analysing and the interpretation of numerical data.
